EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claim 9, line 5, "the supply source" has been changed to -- the supply voltage source -- to be consistent with the language used on line 4.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: prior art, U.S. Patents # 6,628,221 B2, # 6,166,596, and # 5,982,231, does not teach nor render obvious a class D audio amplifier that has, in combination with other limitations, a compensation circuit for providing a modified carrier signal to the second input of the comparator, whereby the modified carrier signal is generated by the compensation circuit as a function of the carrier signal and the supply voltage source signal, which are sent to inputs of the compensation circuit; neither does it have a connection having a comparator to one of which inputs an audio signal is sent, while its second input is connected to the adder of the compensation circuit of supply voltage influence on the output audio signal, to which a voltage from a reference voltage source is sent, characterized in that a low-pass filter and a high-pass filter are connected to the supply voltage source, and the reference voltage source is connected to an inverting circuit, whose input is connected to the low-pass filter output, while the high-pass filter output and the output of the inverting circuit are connected to a multiplier whose output is connected to the input of another multiplier whose second input is connected to the saw-shaped voltage generator and the multiplier output is connected to one input of the adder whose second input is connected to the saw-shaped voltage generator; nor does it have a method of compensation of supply voltage influence on the output audio signal in an audio amplifier that has the step of, having a comparator making use of pulse width modulation, and which is powered from a power supply, and to whose input an audio signal is sent, and whose second input is connected to an adder of a compensation circuit of supply voltage influence on the output audio signal, to which a voltage from a reference voltage source is sent, characterized in that from the power supply source, a fast-changing signal and a slow-changing signal are extracted and then the slow-changing signal is inverted and multiplied by the a value of a reference supply voltage V_{DCref} which results in an output signal, which then is multiplied by a fast-changing signal which results in an error signal $e(t)$, which then is multiplied by a saw-shaped signal from the generator, and the resulting signal is added to a saw-shaped signal and as a corrected carrier wave is sent to one of the inputs of the comparator, which makes use of pulse width modulation, and to its second input the audio signal is sent.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. U.S. Patents # 6,628,221 B2, # 6,166,596, # 5,982,231, # 6,016,075, and # 6,809,586 B1 contain some limitations of the claimed invention.
